Assessment rubric for spoken production

Spoken production · Type 1

EN

Pragmatic competences
Task achievement • Delivers a personal production that reflects serious, thorough work. • Shows originality and creativity. • Fulfils the mission set by the scenario and respects the required format. • Knows how to start and end the recording • Can adapt to the sociolinguistic situation.	8 points
Content • Provides the expected information. • Gives a prepared, non-complex presentation on the given topic. • Can divide the content of the talk into an introduction, main body and conclusion. • Can structure a talk into different thematic sections.
Oral performance • Delivers a good oral performance, without reciting or reading: eye contact, gestures, tone, energy. • The talk is pleasant to listen to.
Coherence: • Uses simple linguistic devices to present and link information (non-systematic errors tolerated). • The main points are explained with reasonable precision.
Linguistic competences
Syntax and grammar • Can apply what has been practised in the previous units. • Has a good command of simple, everyday structures; complex sentences are still being acquired. • Has sufficient command of grammar for the overall meaning to remain clear. • Errors do not impede understanding of the discourse.	2 points
Lexis • Reuses the vocabulary of the unit. • Uses basic vocabulary appropriate to the task. • Can use circumlocution to make themselves understood.	2 points
Phonology: • Pronounces key words correctly. • Is generally intelligible despite some pronunciation errors linked to their first language. • Intelligibility and fluency: Can make themselves understood most of the time despite pauses (even long ones) to search for words.	8 points

Translated from the French original with Claude · Espace Langues, Université Sorbonne Paris Nord · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0